

NELSON WILDLIFE

If you have bird feeders by your house you know that occasionally a bird will fly into a window - smack. You check to see that it is okay, and often they are - stunned but ready to fly off in a few minutes.

Recently the thud came and we found a Yellow Bellied Sapsucker on the ground. Before letting him go, we got a nice picture.

Sapsuckers are woodpeckers and look much like the Hairy Woodpecker, who is a bit bigger, and the Downy Woodpecker, who is a bit smaller. If you hear a rat-a-tat tat in the woods - the first part fast and the last two tats slower - you're probably hearing a Yellow Bellied Sapsucker.

GRAPEVINE-2

Grapevine-2 is a quarterly newsletter serving the Nelson/Munsonville community and is sponsored by the Nelson Congregational Church. It is made possible mostly by voluntary donations from readers, with some supplementary assistance from the church. Should donations exceed costs, the surplus goes to the church. Contributions of articles, ideas, photos, or art are always welcome.

To contact the Grapevine-2, call Elizabeth Williams (Beth) at 847-9064, or email to: elizabeth48@earthlink.net, or snailmail to:
